

Macroscopic: Looking at the Bigger Picture

By Adela Wu

---

Adela Wu, MD is currently a neurosurgery resident physician at Stanford University as well as an artist and writer. Wu is passionate about making connections between ideas and people, particularly in exploring patient and illness experiences. She has regularly published articles and editorial illustrations for multiple campus newspapers and blogs at Brown University, Johns Hopkins, and Stanford and is looking to expand her horizons. Created with watercolors, pencil, and ink, “Macroscopic” portrays the lens with which she sees patients, people who are more than just their diagnoses and diseases.